

Established in 1951, Rapleys is a property & planning consultancy offering comprehensive professional and agency services, on a personal and value added basis.

We work across the UK, with offices located in Huntingdon, Birmingham, Bristol, Edinburgh, London and Manchester. Our national office network is strategically located to deliver a service based on local and regional knowledge but with a national understanding and focus of the wider commercial property market.

We are highly active in the East Anglian region, managing the work from our Huntingdon and London offices. We provide a fresh and different perspective to the commercial property and planning process by way of our multi-disciplinary and co-ordinated approach to deliver real estate ideas, solutions and returns for our clients who, in some instances are well known national businesses.

The majority of our property professionals are qualified members of the RICS and RTPI and our total number of staff and partners extends to in excess of 170.
